Leading Causes of Foodborne Illness

Not keeping food hot (135°F or above) or cold (41°F or below).

Sick food workers.

Not cleaning or sanitizing equipment.

Not cooking food adequately.

Not using safe (commercial) food sources.

Improperly cooling food.

Bare hand contact with ready-to-eat food.

Improper handwashing.

Impover handwashing.